I am enthusiastically writing in response to your advertisement for the position of a Web Designer at AT&T Interactive. As a creative minded individual with over 5 years of functional web designing experience, I am ready to leverage my capabilities to contribute to your bottom line.

As indicated in the enclosed resume, I have a considerable experience in web designing applications and tools. My ability to create precise web designs – that are easy to maintain, revise and expand – has been commended by managers many times. Moreover, I take pride in my capability to implement effective search engine optimization strategies with all designs that I made. Additionally, I have a track record of creating user friendly web designs for new users. This quality helped non-technical visitors to easily understand the website content, consequently, converted them into returning visitors.

With a great web designing acumen, I look forward to a meeting with you to discuss my aspirations in details. I will call you after some days to follow up on this letter. Please feel free to call me. If you need any further information from my side.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely

Nauman Rao
